

Signs of the Time

The Charterhouse specialist auction of enamel signs and automobilia on 26th September has some fabulous lots on offer.

“The market for enamel signs, whether sausages or train stations is particularly high,” commented Richard Bromell. “Today the signs are more likely to grace the wall of a kitchen, study or man-cave rather than being an advert on the side of a building.”

Included in the auction are rare enamel signs including a Lyme Regis station target sign estimated at £400 - £600 along with many other signs, car mascots, vintage car lamps and other automobilia.

Charterhouse are now accepting entries for their summer auctions of classic bikes, cars, coins, medals, stamps, collectors' items, enamel signs and automobilia.
